As many of you have written –“Where have the years gone?” Also, what a pleasure it has been to be able to read all of the bio’s as they have arrived. What an interesting class we have ... so diverse, so talented!

My life after graduation has been pretty simple. Got married, moved to California and two years later started a family. We have two wonderful boys who are now grown and still a joy. Our oldest, Michael, lives in Sacramento with his wife, Tammy, and has no children. Mike works for AT&T and Tammy interprets for the deaf. Our youngest, Craig, lives here in Roseville with his wife Marsha, and has blessed us with two wonderful grandsons. Craig is a teacher and Marsha works for Hewlett-Packard.

For many years I worked as a graphic designer, and thanks to the opportunity to do a newsletter for our class, I have been able to keep my hand in it.

Since I always loved being outside we were very involved in tennis until my mid-50s. I took a couple of falls on the court and decided that if I was going to fall down, grass would be much easier to land on, so I took up golf. Soon I became involved in our Women’s Golf Association of Northern California, and after three years on the board, became President. It was a great opportunity to give back and, selfishly, meet some wonderful people and be involved with tournaments and other activities from a different perspective.

Also began quilting (thank you Barb and Sue); and so enjoy the creativity and learning that quilting brings. My main purpose was to make community quilts for various charities and that still is a passion – after all you can only have so many quilts in your home.

When Brad retired we began to travel some and were invited to Mexico (San Carlos) with some friends. We fell in love with the area and have spent the month of February there for the last few years.

Hopefully next year we will stay even longer! Since we drive, I take my sewing machine and our golf clubs. As the picture here shows, the area is beautiful and peaceful. Anytime I can hear the ocean all night, it is where I want to be!

Can hardly wait for August to see everyone and really catch up!

My “boys” (L to R):
Jake (12), Michael,
Alec (10) and Craig!
